Borrowing To Refinance Your Home

WHAT IS A REMORTGAGE?

A remortgage is the process of taking out a new mortgage loan in order to repay your existing mortgage. The new loan can be with your existing lender or a you can move the loan to a new provider. You could repay part of the debt, in order to have a smaller mortgage, remortgage for the same amount or even borrow more, all dependant on your circumstances and requirements.

HOW DO YOU REMORTGAGE YOUR HOME?

The first step to remortgaging a property is to speak to your mortgage adviser who will be able to assess your personal and financial circumstances. They'll explore the options available to you from the whole of the market, as well as your existing lender. Following this, your adviser will make a recommendation on the most suitable mortgage product for your individual needs, and can arrange a new mortgage application.

If you are paying back your existing mortgage before your existing tie-in period has ended, you may have to pay an early repayment charge (ERC) to your existing lender on top of a deed discharge fee. Your adviser can look at the costs and benefits involved with this and will advise you on the most suitable time to complete a new application.

The remortgage application process still requires similar checks to those carried out for your original mortgage. This can take approximately eight to twelve weeks, so we recommend you speak to us at least six months prior to your current tie-in period coming to an end, to avoid paying more than you need to. Home Refinancing

REMORTGAGING

It is essentially replacing one mortgage with another – your new mortgage repays your existing mortgage. This can happen for various reasons, from coming to the end of your current mortgage tie-in period, to wanting to free up some of the equity in your home by borrowing a higher amount. If the initial rate of your current mortgage is ending, remortgaging could save you a lot of money. If you are looking to release some equity, dependent on your financial circumstances, many lenders will allow this additional borrowing to fund certain things, such as to purchase an additional property, make home improvements, or finance your lifestyle goals.

PRODUCT TRANSFER

A Product Transfer is a new mortgage product taken out with your existing lender, to repay and replace the existing mortgage loan. As the lender will have undertaken underwriting and a valuation on the property at the point the original mortgage was taken out the application process can be much more straightforward than with a remortgage application.

FURTHER ADVANCE

If you use the equity in your home to borrow a further amount, without redeeming your existing mortgage, this is called a Further Advance. This could be used for many reasons, for example, to finance home improvements or to help a family member get on the property ladder by gifting them a deposit. The amount borrowed will not be added to your existing mortgage, rather a second mortgage is taken out, which will be on a separate interest rate, based on available products at the time of the further advance application. Your adviser will calculate your affordability and advise on how much you could apply for. The lender will also need to underwrite the affordability of the additional lending application and they may require a new valuation on the property.

SECOND CHARGE MORTGAGES

A second charge mortgage is a second mortgage secured against a property that runs simultaneously to an existing mortgage but from a different mortgage provider. The reason for the name 'second charge' is that in the event of a repossession, the first charge lender would be paid first and the 'second charge' lender second. As such, there is a higher risk for the second charge lender, as they may not be able to reclaim back all the monies lent to the mortgagee. Therefore, this type of financing is likely to be more expensive than standard mortgage finance lending.

WHEN AND WHY?

When you should remortgage your home will completely depend on your own personal situation. If you are looking to remortgage because your current rate is ending, you should start to look for a new mortgage product around 6 months before this happens. At the end of your current tie-in period, your mortgage rate will revert to your lenders' Standard Variable Rate (SVR), which is usually higher than the rate you were previously paying.

Remortgaging will ensure you are not paying more than you need to for your mortgage. Your Charles Cameron & Associates Mortgage Adviser is independent of any lender and can source products from the whole of the market, so they will recommend the very best product and lender to suit your needs.

OUR MORTGAGE PLEDGE

We promise to monitor the market and pledge that you will never have to pay more than you need to for your mortgage if you share with us your current mortgage details.

This could save you £ hundreds every month when compared to your lender's standard variable rate. Sign up at www.ccameron.co.uk/mortgagepledge

Types of Mortgages

REPAYMENT MORTGAGES

With a repayment mortgage, your monthly payments include both the interest amount charged as well as an additional sum which goes towards reducing the amount you owe. This means that each month you are paying off a small part of your mortgage debt.

Advantages: you can see your mortgage amount outstanding reducing, and providing you maintain the required payments, you will also have the certainty that your mortgage will be repaid at the end of the mortgage term.

Disadvantages: in the early years of your mortgage the majority of your monthly payments go on interest so the amount you owe will not be reduced by very much.

INTEREST ONLY MORTGAGES

Interest only mortgages are now only offered under very strict criteria and are unavailable to the majority of clients. With the exception of buy-to-let mortgages, which are often taken out as interest only, rather than repayment. With this type of mortgage, the amount you owe is not repaid from the monthly payments as this only covers the interest amount. Therefore you are not reducing the amount outstanding and the full amount borrowed will need to be repaid at the end of the mortgage term. Therefore, you will need to evidence a repayment strategy.

Advantages: if your repayment strategy performs well you could pay off your mortgage earlier than a repayment mortgage, or at the end of the mortgage term you could have a lump sum available after the outstanding mortgage loan has been repaid, to use as you please.

Disadvantages: very few investments or savings plans are guaranteed to repay your mortgage in full. If there is a shortfall you will be responsible for paying the difference. Your mortgage provider can demand payment and they will charge you interest on any outstanding balance.

You should discuss the risks with your adviser and make sure you are comfortable with them.

Types of Products

There are many different mortgage interest rate options and interest rates vary between products and lenders. Interest rates on buy to let mortgages are typically higher than residential rates. Below is an overview guide of the types of options available, however, a full discussion with your adviser is needed to ensure you choose an option to suit your circumstances.

STANDARD VARIABLE RATE (SVR)

This is a standard interest rate that can go up or down in line with market rates, such as the Bank of England's base rate. SVR is the lenders' main variable interest rate, meaning that when the existing deal on your mortgage ends, your loan will automatically revert to your lender's Standard Variable Rate.

Advantages:

- You have more flexibility as you are not tied to a product and can usually repay your mortgage without incurring any early repayment charges.

Disadvantages:

- Your monthly payments can go up or down which can mean it is difficult to budget. SVR rates are typically higher than the lenders' fixed or tracker mortgage rates, so you could be paying more than necessary.

FIXED-RATE

If you choose a fixed rate mortgage, your monthly payments will stay the same for a set period of time (usually 2, 3, 5, 7 or 10 years). At the end of the fixed rate period, your interest rate will usually revert to the lenders Standard Variable Rate (SVR) which may not be the best rate available to you, so we would recommend you speak to your adviser 6 months before the fixed rate tie-in period ends, to ensure you have a new mortgage product in place and don't pay more than you need to.

Advantages:

- You will know exactly how much your payments will be each month for a set period of time.

Disadvantages:

- Your monthly payment will stay the same for a set period of time, even if other interest rates decrease i.e the Bank of England base rate.
- If you want to repay your loan early, there could be an early repayment charge.

Types of Products

TRACKER

With a tracker rate mortgage, your interest rate will be linked to a rate such as the Bank of England base rate for a set period of time. This means your monthly payment may go up or down.

Disadvantages:

- Some lenders impose a collar, which means the interest rate won't fall below a certain level, even if the rate it is tracking continues to reduce.
- Your monthly payments can go up or down, which can make budgeting difficult.
- If you want to repay your loan early, there could be an early repayment charge.

OFFSET MORTGAGE

An offset mortgage is generally linked to a main current account and/or savings account which are all held with the same lender.

Each month, the amount you owe is reduced by the amount in these accounts before working out the interest due on the loan. This means as your current account and saving balances go up, you pay less mortgage interest. As they go down, you pay more. Though linked accounts used to reduce mortgage interest payments do not attract interest on the balance.

Advantages:

- Mortgage payments can be reduced as savings increase, or you may be able to continue paying a higher level and pay your mortgage off early.
- You usually pay tax on your savings. However, if your savings are automatically used to offset your mortgage, you won't pay income tax on these savings. This can be beneficial for higher-rate taxpayers.

Disadvantages:

- All accounts have to be with one lender/bank.
- You need to have a substantial level of savings.
- If you want to repay the loan early, there could be an early repayment charge.

RISK WARNING

Interest rates fluctuate and therefore your monthly payments could increase as well as reduce.

Please be aware that some tracker / variable rates have a collar rate applied. In instances where a floor rate is in place, should the base rate fall below this rate you may not benefit.

Green Mortgage

WHAT IS IT?

A green mortgage is when a mortgage lender offers the owner preferential terms if they can demonstrate that the property they are borrowing against meets certain environmental criteria. This may include a newly-built home with an environmentally-friendly green roof, solar panels or even a property that has improvements to bring its EPC rating to a higher band.

In other words, a green mortgage describes a mortgage designed specifically for green buildings, or a mortgage where the borrower commits to invest in improving an existing buildings environmental performance.

There are, in essence, three types of green mortgage:

- Lower interest rates for people who buy an energy-efficient home.
- Standard mortgages that offer cash back to buyers who purchase an energy efficient home.
- Mortgages that offer a cheaper interest rate or cashback to buyers who make green home improvements.

With so much awareness around climate change, many people are keen to reduce their impact on the planet and the property market is no different.

DO YOU QUALIFY FOR IT?

Green mortgages are mortgage products for buyers of environmentally-friendly homes – Whether a home is deemed as environmentally friendly is usually classified by its Energy Performance Certificate (EPC) rating and should be rated B – A+++. In order to qualify for a green mortgage on a purchase or a refinance, the lender will need to see a copy of the EPC certificate confirming the rating of the property.

However, that doesn't mean owners of homes with a low energy performance certificate rating have to miss out on the green mortgage scheme – lenders can offer green mortgages on older homes too by funding energy-efficient improvements that increase a property's energy efficiency to least a B rating.

There are also low-cost options available, which run for two years.

PROPERTY INSURANCE

It is a compulsory requirement of a mortgage to have an active Buildings Insurance policy in place. This covers the cost of repairing damage to the structure of a property. Your insurance should cover the full cost of rebuilding your property. You might also want to think about insuring your personal belongings with Contents Insurance.
